Arab Film Festival

The largest and oldest annual showcase of Arab films and filmmakers in the country kicks off its 21st edition on October 13 at San Francisco’s Castro Theatre with the premiere of the Lebanese comedy Mahbas (Solitaire).

The Arab Film Festival has established itself internationally as one of the most important festivals of its kind outside the Arab world. It strives to present the best in contemporary films that provide insight into the beauty, complexity and diversity of the Arab world.

United Nations Association Film Festival

The United Nations Association Film Festival (UNAFF) was originally established to honor the 50th anniversary of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights. The 20th UNAFF, October 19–29 in Palo Alto, in East Palo Alto, in San Francisco and at Stanford University, celebrates the power of documentaries dealing with human rights, women’s and LGBT issues, racism, environmental themes, population growth, homelessness, universal education, war and peace.

The UNAFF prides itself on creating a community forum for discovery and dialogue about different cultures, social issues and solutions. The theme of this year’s festival is Respect.

In the fourth season of the critically acclaimed series Finding Your Roots, professor Henry Louis Gates Jr. explores the mysteries, surprises and revelations hidden in the family trees of 28 of today's most intriguing cultural trailblazers — leading artists, politicians, activists, performers and journalists.

“We are all connected to larger stories that have played a role in shaping who we are as people and as a nation,” said Gates. “The DNA technology of today opens the doors to discovering the past in new ways, allowing us to learn more about our history than ever before. This new season will continue to inspire people to find out more about their own personal family stories and spark an interest among young people in genetics, anthropology history and the pursuit of science.”

Watch comedian Larry David and politician Bernie Sanders discover they have more in common than they thought, tracing their roots back to Jewish communities in Eastern Europe. Actor Lupita Nyong’o, NBA star Carmelo Anthony and political commentator Ana Navarro trace their African heritage, investigating the political choices of their fathers and discovering sometimes unexpected heritage.

Also journalists Bryant Gumbel and Suzanne Malveaux and producer and writer Tonya Lewis-Lee discover a tapestry of the unexpected as they delve into their ancestry, revealing Civil War legacies and forgotten European origins. And actors Scarlett Johansson, Paul Rudd and John Turturro, all with immigrant parents, gain greater understanding of the unique challenges their ancestors faced with prejudice and poverty at home and abroad. And that's only the beginning!

The 10 new episodes of Finding Your Roots begin airing Tuesday, October 3, at 8pm on KQED 9.
Forum Celebrates 30 Years; Host Michael Krasny Inducted Into Bay Area Radio Hall of Fame

This year is a momentous one for Forum. Not only does KQED’s award-winning call-in news and public affairs program celebrate its 30th anniversary, but also its longtime host, Michael Krasny — who has been the show’s familiar voice for nearly 25 years — has been inducted into the Bay Area Radio Hall of Fame, Class of 2017. Honored in the Talk Show Host category, he was among 11 new inductees recognized as “broadcast legends.”

Expressing his gratitude for the induction, Michael said, “Broadcast journalism has been a wonderful way to serve the public and continue an ongoing lifetime pursuit of knowledge. I am, above all, an educator. The work I have done on Forum has allowed me to be a public educator and, I hope, to shed light on issues that matter and advance democracy and citizenship as well as having the great privilege of interviewing some of the most important newsmakers and luminaries of our era.”

In September, Michael and Mina Kim, the host of Friday Forum, commemorated the show’s anniversary with a special live program at SFJAZZ in San Francisco. Author Salman Rushdie, performer Rhodessa Jones, and musicians Zakir Hussain and Joshua Redman were among the special guests.

“Forum has grown over 30 years as a place where the public can expect a high level of discourse, debate and dissemination of knowledge,” Michael added. “I am fortunate to have a great team behind me and an inimitable wide range of listeners. I only hope we can continue to fulfill our mission in the best and most exemplary way possible.”

Forum airs weekdays from 9 to 11am on KQED 88.5 FM. Listen to past episodes online at kqed.org/forum.

Best of Broadway, Friday Nights

The critically acclaimed Roundabout Theatre Company production of She Loves Me comes to Great Performances in November, kicking off PBS’s Broadway’s Best fall lineup on Friday, October 20.

She Loves Me was the first Broadway musical ever to stream live during a performance at Roundabout Theatre Company’s Studio 54. In the musical, Tony Award–winner Laura Benanti and Tony nominee Zachary Levi star as Amalia and Georg, two parfumerie clerks who aren’t quite the best of friends. Constantly bumping heads while on the job, the sparring co-workers can’t seem to find common ground. But little do they know, the anonymous romantic pen pals they have both been falling for happen to be each other. Will love continue to blossom once their identities are finally revealed?

Following She Loves Me, the Broadway’s Best series continues with Holiday Inn (November 24) and a tribute to Harold Prince, the living embodiment of Broadway’s Golden Age (November 17), along with the acclaimed revival of Present Laughter (November 3), and encores of In the Heights – Chasing Broadway Dreams (November 10) and Hamilton’s America (December 1).

Great Performances: She Loves Me airs Friday, October 20, at 8pm on KQED 9.

KQED at Lit Crawl

Each year Litquake brings nearly 10,000 book lovers and storytellers together for its annual literary festival in San Francisco’s Mission District.

KQED is proud to be partnering with ¿Donde Esta Mi Gente? to bring you Bad Immigrant at this year’s Lit Crawl Festival. Get ready for border-transcending literary performances from writers on the strength, hilarity and humanity of being an immigrant. Performances by Ingrid Rojas Contreras, Amanda Muniz, Zulfikar Ali Bhutto, Camilo Villa and Baruch Porras Hernandez.

Although some teachers use summer to relax and take a vacation, many use the unstructured time to strengthen their knowledge and skills before the next academic year begins. This year, KQED Teach, a free online learning service to help K–12 teachers develop their digital media skills, launched its first online summer challenge, Camp KQED Teach, focused on data visualization.

Data visualization is a crucial 21st-century skill that empowers students (and teachers) to be savvy media makers who both think critically about the media they consume and can clearly communicate complex data to audiences who matter to them.

For two months, more than 3,000 educators strengthened their data visualization skills, learning how to make infographics, interactive maps and digital timelines — all from the comfort of their own homes.

By the end of the camp experience, teachers had shared more than 300 final projects and lesson plans with a community of their peers. Noted one participant: “It was helpful to see what other teachers were creating, and getting ideas from them.” Another participant liked “being exposed to new forms of technology and ideas for how to integrate them into the classroom,” adding, “I also liked having to practice and publish my final projects.”

KQED plans to offer new media challenges during school breaks, including winter and summer. If you are a teacher looking to grow your media skills and literacies, join our community!

Unleash Your Inner Scientist!

Science lovers unite! The Bay Area Science Festival is back for its seventh year with a dazzling set of science adventures, October 26 through November 11.

This year’s festival includes more than 50 events at venues around the Bay Area, featuring renowned scientists and science lovers alike. Highlights include a maker-themed variety show with Mythbuster Adam Savage on Saturday, October 28, at the Castro Theatre; the Halloween science-themed Creatures of the NightLife event at the California Academy of Sciences on Thursday, October 26; and a series of intimate dinners with scientists throughout the week.

The festival concludes with Discovery Days at AT&T Park on Saturday, November 11. The event will turn the baseball stadium into an outdoor science museum, with hands-on science demonstrations from premier science institutions such as the California Academy of Sciences, Stanford University, NASA Ames, as well as KQED. Visit bayareascience.org for a complete listing of festival events and activities.

The Bay Area Science Festival is organized by the University of California, San Francisco.

Who Will Win KQED’s Drama World Series?

There’s the drama of sports and then there’s real drama. This month, eight of your favorite drama classics and mysteries will compete head-to-head in KQED’s first ever Drama World Series.

Will a classic period drama rule the field or will a detective from a murder mystery be crowned champion? Vote for your favorite as Downton Abbey, Victoria, Poldark, Anne of Green Gables, Sherlock, Prime Suspect, Miss Fisher’s Murder Mysteries and Grantchester step up to the plate. The players are all ready — Ross Poldark and Sydney Chambers have been hitting the gym, and the Dowager Countess and Phryne Fisher are primed to take them on in this one-of-a-kind championship showdown.

Visit facebook.com/KQED starting October 2 to find out how to cast your vote, and follow KQED Pop (kqed.org/pop) for show recaps and more.

The winning series will be announced online and will air in an all-day marathon, Sunday, October 29, on KQED Plus.
